INTRODUCTION

This bibliography consists of over 500 references in the general field of Black Studies and Black people in higher education. It is a bibliography in progress and is by no means complete. We hope that it will be useful in our continuing collective efforts to strengthen ACADEMIC EXCELLENCE AND SOCIAL RESPONSIBILITY IN BLACK STUDIES. Further, we hope that YOU will take this bibliography as your own and contribute to its completion by sending us references that we have not included, bibliographies, papers (published and unpublished), and other items.

The significance of bibliographical work—surveying, organizing, cataloging, and disseminating the literature of Black Studies—cannot be overemphasized. It is at the core of standardizing curriculum in Black Studies and continuing the fight for a permanent place for Black Studies in higher education. As the call to this conference clearly states:

As an emerging discipline, there has been little time to systematically organize existing knowledge of the Black experience which is necessary for the development of a sound and effective curriculum. This process of standardization—developing a broad intellectual consensus around a core curriculum—is how disciplines establish their intellectual credibility and lay claim to a permanent place in the university.

Thus, the kind of work that this bibliography represents is an essential contribution to the continued survival and further development of Black Studies.

As we have repeatedly stressed with INTRODUCTION TO AFRO-AMERICAN STUDIES, YOU are essential to the collective process of making it the educational tool that effectively meets the needs of Black Studies in 1977 and beyond. Thus, we need your input in this bibliography and in all of our work. We look forward to your suggestions and to our future collective efforts as we BUILD ACADEMIC EXCELLENCE AND SOCIAL RESPONSIBILITY IN BLACK STUDIES!
