PREFACE

The CENTER FOR BLACK STUDIES is based on the standards of academic excellence and social responsibility in order to meet the needs of Black people in particular and the entire society in general. One of the ways that this is being done is through our new program of publishing documents produced in the course of our activities and programs. In the main, this will include bibliographies, research and reference guides, papers produced by the faculty and graduate students, and MA theses and PhD dissertations produced by graduate students working with the Center.

We invite comments and suggestions for our work in the future, and especially criticisms on our past work in order that we can improve and do a better job. Nearly every project is the result of a collective effort at the Center, including faculty, students, and staff. We consider this to be an essential contribution of the Black Studies movement to the new intellectual style of work. We hope that this publication is useful in your work. Please pass it on to other people so that it can be of use to others.

This bibliography of Black sociologists is a major resource for the study of the last 100 years of Black intellectual history, as well as the scientific analysis of the conditions of the Black Experience in the USA. Those seven sociologists are major figures, though they have most often been overlooked and virtually ignored. We have compiled this research tool to enable as many people as possible to turn the tide and fully set the record straight.
